Shame on the Fish and Game Department and its commissioners! I have just learned that you will do away with the Julia Pfeiffer Burns marine reserve and let people go fishing in it. This coastal area is special and was donated to California in her name. And it was to be kept in her name. Yes there is still a Julia Pfeiffer Burns state park, but the area is particularly special because it is coastline, land and water. There should be a water piece of the state park like there has been. We visit the park and beach regularly and study California's pioneer history. Your proposal ignores the importance of this history to the local area. It is very disrespectful and offensive of you to remove the area that was named after her and open it to fishing. Worse of all you don't provide any reason.

Putting new marine protected areas at Point Sur and Big Creek instead like you propose is not enough and you are doing disservice by removing her name from your list. Go away you Sacramento politicians who think you know what is best for the local communities. You have not earned our respect when you come here mess things up and leave.
